"HALF A NEGRO" TO CHICAGO

Republicans Turn Down George Gentry at State Convention, Tho' Davison Makes a Hard Fight.

The republicans of Kentucky in convention at Louisville, sat down hard upon poor old George W. Gentry, the local negro, who has been fighting the battles of that party for over 40 years. Although the convention sent eight delegates-at-large to the national convention, they only gave one place to a negro, and Phil Brown, a negro editor of Hopkinsville got that, giving Kentucky as a number of negro delegates termed it, "half a negro" at the national convention. The "Big Eight" chosen were Ed Morrow, Marshall Bullitt, Judge E. C. O'Rear, A. E. Willson, Richard P. Ernst, and Congressman Caleb Powers, and Phil Brown, the negro.

The feature of the convention from a local standpoint, was the hard fight made for a full negro representation, or two delegates, by Dr. Robert L. Davison, chairman of the Lincoln County Republican Committee. By a vote of 1,987 1-2 to 322 1-2, the convention, however, voted down all efforts to put Gentry on the delegation. The convention witnessed some warm times. The Courier-Journal said the following of the matter.

Immediately following the reading of the report of the Resolutions Committee, recommending that seven white men and only one negro be sent as delegates at large to the national convention, pandemonium broke loose among the negro delegates, who insisted above the hubbub that six white men and two negroes be named. The fight to that end was started by J. E. Wood, a negro delegate from Danville, who moved that George W. Gentry, colored, of Stanford, recommended by the Resolutions Committee, in its report, for endorsement for the post of assistant doorkeeper at the national convention, be substituted for one of the seven white men recommended for committee from the state at large. The motion was quickly seconded by other negro delegates, and soon the word went out that if the negroes were not allowed to have their way they would walk out of the convention, costing the Republicans 85,000 votes in the coming November election.

Realizing the gravity of the situation, Edwin P. Morrow, at this point, in a dramatic speech, offered himself as a sacrifice. Throwing off the restraining arms of Maurice Galvin, of Covington; Caleb Powers and others, Mr. Morrow sprang to the platform and asked the convention to name the negro Gentry in his place. A storm of applause, dominated by a roar of "noes," greeted Mr. Morrow's suggestion. The delegates would not let the suggestion come to a vote.

Dr. Robert L. Davison, of Stanford, advocating adoption of Wood's motion, said that were 85,000 loyal republican negroes in Kentucky and that unless they were given fair representation in the selection of delegates from the state at large they would be heard from in the coming election.

Such turmoil prevailed at this point in the proceedings that it became necessary for the chairman to name three persons as sergeants-at-arms to restore order.

Thurman Dixon, who was temporary chairman had barely finished his keynote speech when Dr. Robert L. Davison, of Lincoln county, inaugurated a ruckus over the number of negro delegates to be sent from the State at large to the national convention.

"I rise to a question of personal privilege and information, Mr. Chairman," he said, as he made his way to the front of the rostrum and addressed the delegates, rather than the chairman. "I want to know what has been done for the colored republicans of Kentucky. I ask whether this convention is going to send two negro delegates to Chicago out of the eight, or only one. Heretofore one negro has always been sent out of four, and now if we are going to send eight then in justice to the colored man we should send two negroes with half a vote each, so the colored man will have one full vote as he always has had."

Dr. Davison's remarks threw the convention into a mild sort of uproar. He had not finished his first sentence when hisses and cries of "sit down" and "throw him out" were heard. A score or more of delegates from all parts of the hall loudly shouted points of order which nobody could understand. All the while a negro delegate, immediately in front of the rostrum, looked straight into Chairman Dixon's face and spoke vehemently in favor of two negro delegates.

Chairman Dixon tried to explain to Davison, that he was out of order, but the latter stamped his foot, shook his fist and sat down on the chairman's desk smiling. By this time half a dozen men on or near the platform were speaking. Secretary Alvis S. Bennett walked over to Davison and threw his arms around his shoulders, and the display of affection brought another smile from Davison, but no indication of a willingness to move.

And then Mr. Davison, who never wearied of well doing, but kept a seat within six feet of Chairman Moss and waited for openings, went to the front of the rostrum for the sixth time and, with a sweeping wave of his right arm, attempted to influence the audience. He did. The delegates howled and the band played till he sat again on the chairman's table. But the convention voted him and Gentry down.

May Hold Negro Convention.

That the action of the republican convention in turning down Gentry and the negro delegates is bitterly resented by them, is shown by a story in the republican Lexington Leader published Thursday which says:

A second State Republican convention, is to be called at the instigation of colored Republican leaders, may be a result of the dissatisfaction experienced among some of the colored delegates by the Louisville resolutions.

The colored Republican organization known as the Republican Pacific and Political League, will, it is understood, assume the direction of calling a second convention. George W. Gentry of Lincoln county, is president of the league; Dr. E. Underwood, of Frankfort, is Vice President, and J. E. Wood, of Danville, secretary; Ed Chenault and Ed Willis, of Lexington, are actively interested.

Chenault said that the colored delegates had no voice in the convention in many instances; that the chairman voted them in some cases and that others were counted after they had left the hall. "The honest white republicans will concede that we are entitled to one-fourth representation on the delegation. We were not consulted at all as to the one half vote proposition. The only Negro admitted to the party councils was Phil Brown, and we feel that he betrayed us.

"If it had not been for the colored Republicans, who sat still in the boat and voted under the Log Cabin to a man, there would be no Republican party in Kentucky today. The colored voter has been the solid basis of Republican success in this state, and now all he asks is that the party will not permit a handful of officeholders to take away what little he has been given of party honors and recognition."

STANFORD FAIR AUG. 23, 24, 25.
The Harrodsburg Democrat, in mentioning the dates of the fairs of this section, says that the Stanford fair will be held the third week in August. This is a mistake. It is the fourth week, and the dates claimed are Aug. 23, 24 and 25.

YOUTHFUL, AMATEUR ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS PLAY HAVOC WITH THE LIGHTING CIRCUIT IN STANFORD

Several nights last week when current was turned on at the power house, reports came in from some parts of town of an unusual "jumping or jerking" of the lights, and try as hard as Supt. Frank Rout would, the trouble could not be located at the plant, where it was supposed, the trouble was to be found. A careful investigation was then made over the lines and it was discovered that Leonard Ball, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Ball, of Depot street, had rigged up a private electric plant of his own, for the purpose of doing some experimental work. The embryonic electrical engineer, had in some way obtained a lot of wire, and attached it to one of the main feed wires, on a pole near his father's store. He had then run the wire into the house, and at the time discovery was made, had it connected with the iron bed usually occupied by the cook. The precocious youngster said that he planned to give that estimable person a gentle shock, if his experiments worked successfully. Further investigation disclosed the fact that playmates of young Ball had rigged up similar experimental plants, one planning to light his father's barn with electricity, through his home-made outfit. Ball and the other youngsters involved, had worked out ingenious connections, but had overlooked the danger of being severely if not seriously shocked themselves by fooling with wires which become very "live" every afternoon when the "juice" is turned on at the powerhouse. All were told of the great danger they had unconsciously courted and their electrical experiments were most seriously discouraged by their parents and others concerned. With the dismantling of the amateur plants, there has been no further trouble with lights and power over town.

FLORENCE HONORED AGAIN

As Member of Republican State Central Committee from 8th District

Eighth District republicans held an enthusiastic and interesting convention here Tuesday afternoon, and elected two delegates and two alternates to the national convention at Chicago, sending them without instructions in regard to presidential matters. George D. Florence, of Stanford, was re-elected as the Eighth's member of the State Central Committee, without opposition.

A second State Republican convention, is to be called at the instigation of colored Republican leaders, may be a result of the dissatisfaction experienced among some of the colored delegates by the Louisville resolutions.

BECKHAM FOR ECONOMY.
The Senate postoffice committee, of which Senator Beckham is a member, adopted the Good Roads bill as a substitute for the Shadeford House measure. Senator Beckham said his objection to the latter was the appropriation of a great sum at one time. The Senate bill would appropriate over a period of years. Kentucky would get under it $1,507,000 in five years, starting with $100,000 the first year and increasing proportionately annually.

The first business then taken up was the election of a State Central Committee, Chairman R. L. Davison, of the Lincoln county republican committee, placed the name of Hon. George D. Florence before the convention, and numerous seconds were had to the nomination of this prominent, popular and active young party leader. There were no other nominations and he was elected by acclamation.

Call for nomination of candidates for delegates was then made by Judge Walker. The name of E. P. Black, of Madison was placed before the convention by C. C. Wallace, of Richmond; that of J. L. Butler, of Boyle, was placed in nomination by Henry V. Bastin, of Garrard. W. B. Saffell, a colored leader, nominated Ludlow F. Petty, of Shelby, and A. Kenney, of Jessamine, was also placed before the convention. The vote stood: Petty 183; Black 103; Butler 67; Kenney 13. The vote for alternate was: W. C. Cundiff, of Casey 157; J. O. Russell, of Adair 123; Rev. J. E. Wood, colored, of Boyle, 70. King Swope, of Boyle, and W. B. Saffell, colored, of Shelby, were chosen elector and assistant for the district, by acclamation.

Upon motion of Dr. R. L. Davison, the convention voted to recommend to the state convention, the selection of George W. Gentry, of this city, for a delegate-at-large from Kentucky to the national convention. Dr. Davison paid to Gentry a high tribute as a leader of his race, who had been fighting the battles of republicanism for 40 years, and in every way fully worthy of the honor he asks at the hands of his party in the state. Rev. J. E. Wood, the colored leader of Danville, also made a strong speech advocating Gentry.

The convention then adjourned.

Crab Orchard

Our graded school is progressing nicely.

Our teachers are putting forth every effort for the uplifting and upbuilding of the bright minds entrusted to their care.

And right here we will say we have never known brighter talent than the young people here possess.

Among the recent improvements for the graded school are chairs for the chapel room; shades for all the class room windows; and quite a number of new books for the library.

Much of the fund for these improvements was raised by the teachers and pupils by means of entertainments.

Quite an interesting program was rendered by the pupils last Friday at the chapel hour in honor of Longfellow's birthday.

If we had space, we would like to mention each pupil by name, as all acquitted themselves with distinction.

On each Thursday morning hereafter will be held interesting exercises and the teachers would be much encouraged if parents, and those interested in education would attend.

The prosperity and progress of every town depends largely upon its school.

Misses John Eva Hilton and Ellen Moore, two of the teachers, spent Saturday and Sunday at their homes in Stanford.

Mr. Walter Edmiston visited his aged father and his brother, Dr. Edmiston some weeks ago and is looking well.

He has purchased a nice farm near Morehead, and will settle down to farm life.

Having visited 27 states he finds none better than Old Kentucky.

A tremendous crowd was present when the sale began, but rain which came up during the afternoon thinned

the crowd down considerably and the lots in consequence sold much below what they might have brought under better weather conditions.

Some splendid building sites were opened up by this sale, affording opportunity for an expansion of the city in one of the few localities which are suitable for home building

—along Lancaster avenue, almost out to the home place of the Embry family.

The aggregate of the sales amounted to over $6,000, which was the amount paid by the Messrs. Walton to Embry Bros., for the 30 acres which were cut up into lots and small tracts, and put under the hammer.

Auctioneer J. G. Gallagher, of Louisville, cried the sale, and gave splendid satisfaction, while the Danville band pleased everyone with its music.

The sales made were as follows:

S. M. Saufley, one lot $250; E. C. Garman, one lot $230; R. M. Newland, two lots $210 and $205; B. L. Fagaly one lot $201; J. M. Phillips, lots at $172.50, $167.50, $170, $60, $21.25, $127.50, $50, $38, $21, $21, 13 lots at $39 and

Twelve Years Later.

Casavanti, the cadet, was a firm upholder of the pregnancy of apparel. He believed in keeping up appearances. He even reveled in his appellation of the Beau Nash of the Tenorio. His clothes were of the latest cut and from the folds of his noisy cravat always flashed a "shiner" of the first water. There was, accordingly, almost a note of condescension in his manner as he unfolded the sheet.

"The Hammer of God again!" he said with a sneer. But a troubled look crept into his face as he stood studying the message and the envelope in which that message had come. Then he laughed. But it was a laugh with out mirth. "Palidori!" he muttered. "Why should I know anything about a man named Palidori?"

"Then we'll strike before the Hammer does!" he announced, with sudden determination. And with a gesture of impatience he commanded the Owl to take him to the girl, the hidden girl on whom still hinged his dreams of vengeance. "McTigue," he called back as he went, "get Tatano and the taxi and be ready."

Yet he showed no exultation as he followed the hobbling Owl along a darkened passageway and up a flight of wooden stairs leading to the floor above.

Bent over a table beside the barred window he saw a girl, a girl still in her teens, a girl with a look of inalienable innocence still in her mournful eyes. And Legar, as he crossed to the table, saw that she was good to gaze upon. Yet at the sight of him she shrank back, letting the locket which she had just tied about her neck fall from her trembling fingers.

"Don't cower that way!" commanded Legar. "I haven't come to beat you. I guess the Owl gave you enough of that."

"Then why are you here?" the questioning eyes seemed to ask him.

"I've come to tell you I think you've had about enough of this sort of thing. It's going to be stopped, and you're going to see the world!"

"You're going to set me free?" gasped the incredulous girl.

"Free as a bird!" announced the debonair Slim drew up, blinking suspiciously at the mysterious vehicle. Then he blinked even harder, for from the open door window of the limousine a gloved hand had unmistakably beckoned to him. And the remarkable part of it all, to Slim, was the fact that the drawn car curtains concealed everything but that mysteriously beckoning hand.

Slim promptly decided to investigate. But he also decided to advance with caution. Before he could place a foot on the runningboard, however, and thrust a pertly inquisitive head into the hooded gloom of the car, that car began to move forward again. Yet before it passed from his reach the gloved hand thrust into his own envelope.

On this envelope was clearly inscribed:

"Dr. Ludwig Palidori, Care of Jules Legar," and beneath these words Slim's bewildered eyes made out the unmistakable emblem of a laughing mask. What it meant was more than he could tell.

So inscrutable did this mystery seem, in fact, that Slim, after one minute of deep thought, promptly deftly slipped the blade of his penknife along the gummed flap of the envelope and forced it open. On a single sheet of paper he found written the cryptic words:

"Remember the Hammer of God which smites, and crushes whom it smites!"

Slim, the gay cat and gangster, puzzled much over this message as he restored it to its violated envelope and adroitly resealed the flap.

"Now, who's tellin' gettin' his little knocker out fr'r the Doc?" demanded that bewildered worthy of himself as he made his guarded way back to the underworld rendezvous which was known to his confreres as the Owl's Nest.

Casavanti, as he looked up and saw her, let the cigarette fall from his thin-lipped mouth.

"The Doc was dead right," he said under his breath. "She's a flower, all right!"

Then, still watching the girl, he said aloud: "Are you afraid of me?"

"No," was her answer.

"Then come here," he commanded. But she still stood gazing wonderingly about the room. A suspicion that all was not as it should be had crept over her.

"Why was I sent here?" she demanded, as Casavanti, white faced, stepped closer to her.

"For this," he replied, as with a sudden movement his arms went out and encompassed her shrinking body. She fought and struggled in that contaminating embrace, but her strength was not equal to her captor's. Casavanti, bending her body close to his, cupped his impassioned lips over her parted lips. It was several seconds before he lifted his head.

Before he did so, however, the close door on his right opened and a figure stepped noiselessly out into the room. It was the figure of a man who wore a laughing mask.

"One word, you hound, and it's your last!" said the quiet-toned voice behind the mask. But the revolver remained pointing at Casavanti's head as the stranger took the girl's hand and backed slowly towards the hall door. He groped for the door handle, leveled his weapon and still watched Casavanti. But the door, he discovered, was locked. Perplexed, for one short second he turned and looked for the key. But in that instant the tense-limbed Casavanti, beholding the revolver barrel waver from its target, saw his chance and leaped for his enemy.

The force of that impact sent the mysterious intruder staggering against the wall and the revolver itself clattered across the floor. The girl screamed in terror as the two contending figures fought and writhed about the room. Hurrying steps and voices were already sounding from outside the locked door, and Casavanti, knowing the slimness of his chances, was battling like a wildcat. But the man in the mask, with an odd and quite unexpected movement of the body, brought into play that familiar Jiu-Jitsu trick of catapulting an adversary over his own shoulder, depending on the force of the fall alone for any final result. And the fall in this case was not a gentle one.

Seeing that Casavanti did not move where he lay, the stranger took the doorway from the stunned cadet's pocket and called out for the girl to follow him.

A moment later they entered the limousine and drove quickly away.

"I guess that's one on Legar!" murmured the still breathless man in the mask.

"Who are you?" demanded the young woman.

"I'm only a hammer," was the suddenly sobered reply. "The Hammer of God."

SYNOPSIS.

On Windward Island Palidori intrigues Mrs. Golden into an appearance of evil which causes Golden to capture and torture her by binding his face and crushing his hand. Palidori opens the dyke gates and floods the island and in the general rush to escape the flood Golden is captured and thrown into the sea. Two years later in New York one, calling himself "the Hammer of God" rescues an eighteen-year-old girl from the cadet Casavanti, to whom Jules Legar had delivered her.

SECOND EPISODE

The House of Unhappiness.

Enoch Golden, with all his millions, was a hard man. Those closest to him contended that he had experienced much to make him hard.

The one person who stood in any way intimately and personally connected with Golden was his young private secretary, David Manley. For young Manley, often enough known to his associates as "Davie," was both incorrigibly youthful and engagingly irresponsible. Golden, oddly enough, secretly liked this youth for his foolishness.

Golden smiled a little as he stepped into his massively furnished library and found young Manley curled up in one of the great leather chairs instantly working over a pocket camera and quite oblivious of the telephone bell shrilling from the rosewood desk beside him. Golden, as he seated himself at this desk and curiously answered the phone call, blincked with mock disapproval at the youth bent over the camera.

It was not until he heard Golden's great fist smite the rosewood desktop that Manley looked up. The man of millions was frowning over the letter still in his hand.

"Oh, this old scoundrel won't be too dangerously kind, especially until the ice is broken. I warrant you that much. But with him, I'll also warrant, you'll face none of the affronts that you may have faced in the Owl's Nest."

"But why should he be interested in me?"

"Because you may remind him of a daughter he himself once had."

"Then what must I do?"

"You must put on a dress I have ready, one exactly like the one his own daughter used to wear. And I'd like you to let down your hair."

So the girl, still touched with wonder, was cautiously led to another part of the great house, where she let down her hair and dressed herself in a girlish little frock which she found already laid out for her. And the wonder was still in her eyes as the masked stranger smuggled her quietly down through the house, and as the aged millionaire bent low to unlock the bottom drawer of his desk, motioned her noiselessly into the library and into an armchair facing the desk.

By the time Golden had raised his head again the mysterious stranger had slipped out of sight.

Golden, as he sat upright, stared for several moments of silence at the strange figure in the armchair.

"Who are you?" the grim-faced old financier finally demanded. But the girl remained silent.

Golden, studying her more closely, rose unsteadily to his feet.

"How did you get here?" he asked. And passing a hand across his mottled brow he asked still again: "Who are you?"

"I don't know," answered the girl.

Golden rose to his feet, and still staring hungrily at that mild yet clouded face, crossed to her side.

He held her face between his hands, peering into it. Then, with a weary shake of the head, he dropped his hands.

"It was too much to expect," he huskily murmured. "Too much to hope for!"

His grief-stricken face touched the girl's heart.

"Oh, sir, what had you hoped for?" she managed to ask.

"I hope for nothing," was the broken man's reply. "But once I had a daughter, and I lost her."

"How did you lose her?"

"She was stolen from me, as a child."

"And what became of her?"

"God only knows! Yet, for a moment I was mad enough to think, to hope. But I have no longer any right to hope," he added with sudden passion. "All I ask is that once before I die I meet face to face that one-armed devil with his scar of shame!"

"One-armed, and with a scar!" cried the startled girl, leaning suddenly forward in her chair.

Golden wheeled about at her cry.

"What does that mean to you?"

"Why, it was a one-armed man with a scarred face who kept me a prisoner! It was he, Legar, who always told me my parents were dead."

"Legar!" repeated the bewildered millionaire. "Legar? But my man's name was Palidori."

"Girl, let me see your arm!"

With trembling fingers he thrust up the flimsy sleeve, staring breathlessly at the milk-white skin. Then a groan of disappointment broke from his throat.

"No the mark is not there!"

"What mark?" asked the wondering girl.

There is talk of Governor Stanley's calling an extra session of the General Assembly to take up the matter of adopting a better system of taxation in Kentucky. It would be a poor Legislature that could not improve upon the present one--Harrington Democrat. Well, we would not have a new legislature if an extra session should be called, Brer. A WORD FOR MOTHERS

It is a grave mistake for mothers to neglect their aches and pains and suffer in silence--this only leads to chronic sickness and often shortens life.

If your work is tiring; if you feel languid, weary or depressed, you should know that Scott's Emulsion overcomes just such conditions.

It possesses in concentrated form the very elements to invigorate the blood, strengthen the tissues, nourish the nerves and build strength.

A UNIQUE RECORD

Very Few Like It In Our Broad Republic.

Grateful testimony for Doan's Kidney Pills, published everywhere is of itself convincing evidence of merit. Confirmed testimony forms still stronger evidence. Years ago, a citizen of this locality gratefully acknowledged the benefit derived from Doan's Kidney Pills. The statement is now confirmed--the proof more convincing. Cases of this kind are plentiful in the work of Doan's Kidney Pills--the record is unique.

John T. Barnett, carpenter, Rowland, Ky., says: "I have used many kidney medicines in the past few years, but Doan's Kidney Pills was the only one that gave me relief. My work calls for heavy lifting and much stooping. This weakened my kidneys and caused attacks of lumbo-sacral and a severe ache across the small of my back. I also had other annoyances, caused by weak kidneys. Doan's Kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills brought prompt relief."

OVER THREE YEARS LATER, Mr. Barnett said: "I have had no return of kidney complaint since I used Doan's Kidney Pills and I look upon the benefit as permanent."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy--get Doan's Kidney Pills--the same that Mr. Barnett had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. 18-1

WOMAN HAD NERVOUS TROUBLE

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her.

West Danby, N. Y.—"I have had nervous trouble all my life until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for nerves and for female troubles and it straightened me out in good shape. I work nearly all the time, as we live on a farm and I have four girls. I do all my sewing and other work with their help, so it shows that I stand it real well. I took the Compound when my ten year old daughter came and it helped me a lot. I have also had my oldest girl take it and it did her lots of good. I keep it in the house all the time and recommend it!"—Mrs. DEWITT SINCEBAUGH, West Danby, N. Y.

Sleeplessness, nervousness, irritability, backache, headaches, dragging sensations, all point to female derangements which may be overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

RHODE ISLAND WHITES.

They are a medium, well built bird for market purposes and large enough and splendidly shaped for good egg producers. Having long, broad deep bodies, they have ample capacity for food consumption, consequently a large egg capacity.

As a table fowl they are unexcelled. Their meat is fine, juicy and well flavored. They stand forcing well and under favorable conditions will make two-pound broilers in eight weeks.

For the fancier there is no better bird. They are the sensation and attraction of the show room. In beauty they rival the White Wyandotte, but are of a more business type. The demand for them has been growing faster than the supply and breeders find their surplus readily sold. Their popularity has come from true merit and not from any bad or expensive advertising. They have won their own way in every section and climate where they have been placed.

In the National Egg Laying Contest closed Nov. 1st, 1915, with 79 pens and 26 varieties competing, there were only two pens of Rhode Island Whites, one of these winning second place for the entire year and the other one, won sixth place. The winner being pen of English White Leghorns that had been line bred for years for eggs. Thus the Rhode Island Whites prove all that is claimed for them in the way of eggs.

Dr. King's New Discovery

for Coughs and Colds.

Dr. King's New Discovery is a Doctor's Prescription used for over 45 years. It is pleasant and children like it.

You cannot use anything better for your child's cough and cold than Dr. King's New Discovery. It is prepared from Pine Tar mixed with healing and soothing balsams. It does not contain anything harmful and is slightly laxative, just enough to expel the poisons from the system. Dr. King's New Discovery is antiseptic—kills the cold germs—raises the phlegm—loosens the cough and soothes the irritation.

"I have used Dr. King's New Discovery for the past three years and use it continually in my family. My children are very fond of it for it keeps them free from cold. I can't say too much for it, and take pleasure in recommending it to my friends," Mrs. A. S. Haines, Franconia, N.H.

Don't put off treatment. Coughs and colds often lead to a chronic cough, pneumonia and other serious lung troubles. It is also good for adults and the aged. Get a bottle to-day. All druggists.

FIFTY ADDED TO CHURCH.

In Meeting Conducted by Revs. Dotson and Coakley at Waynesburg.

Waynesburg, Feb. 29.

The series of meetings conducted by Evangelist J. L. Dotson closed on February 22, 1916. There were 50 additions to the church—38 by experience and baptism, 11 by letter and one by restoration. God is greatly using this man of God. A great many of our churches need just such a man for a revival. He has won the hearts of our people, but best of all, he wins souls for God. God never lets him fail to have a good meeting. He is winning a place among the best evangelists of our denomination. The church and community are greatly stirred as a result of his work here.

Rev. E. W. Coakley has been called as pastor of three churches—Waynesburg, Eubank and Pilate for all his time. He has moved to this field and is expecting a great work. Unless the three churches co-operate and keep him in this work, we will not be able to keep him. He is a man of God and greatly desires to see souls saved. He has already won a warm place in the hearts of his people here. He was here during the meeting and greatly helped Bro. Dotson in the work by his special songs, prayers and personal work. May God bless his work in this new field.

Rev. E. W. Coakley performed the baptismal service at the baptistery at H. H. Singleton's mill, Feb. 22, at 10 a. m. A large crowd attended the service.

Mr. H. L. Dumas was up from Somerset on business Tuesday.

Mrs. E. L. Gadberry and little sons are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kincaid at Cecilia.

Mr. Oliver Singleton left Sunday Feb. 21, for Bowling Green where he will enter school.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Reynolds and little daughter, Lucy, and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Reynolds attended the meeting last Thursday and were the guests of their uncle, Mr. D. W. Caldwell.

Mrs. W. M. Jackson and three little sons of Fitzpatrick, W. Va., are visiting her brothers at this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Wheeldon visited Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Estes at Albion Sunday.

Mrs. Talitha Scrivener, of Missouri, recently visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Ball, her sisters, Mesdames J. M. Reynolds and F. O. Gooch here and other relatives at Stanford and Bowen.

Miss Mattie Bowen and brother, of Bowen, are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Ball.

Misses Laura Johnson and Ada Murphy, of Kings Mountain attended the meeting and visited friends here last Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Barbee Wheeler went to Danville Tuesday.

Little Ora Dumas has been sick, but is better at this writing.

Messrs. Roland Singleton and Hollis Reynolds, were in Stanford Sunday.

Make Tomorrow a Better Day. If things "went wrong" today, if you suffered from indigestion, sick headache, biliousness, bloating, bad breath, or other condition caused by delayed bowel action, take a Foley Cathartic Tablet now and tomorrow will be a better day. This wholesome physic acts without pain or nausea. Sold everywhere.

Notice to Contractors.

Sealed proposals addressed to the Fiscal Court of Lincoln county, will be received up to 12 o'clock, noon Friday, March 10th, 1916, when they will be publicly opened and read, for the improvement of the following named roads in Lincoln county:

The Stanford-Danville road, of about five miles to be reconstructed.

The Stanford-Crab Orchard road, of about eight miles to be reconstructed.

Stanford-Somerset road to be graded, new work, about four miles.

The concrete bridge and culvert work on the three above named roads.

And corrugated metal culvert pipe for same roads.

Plans and specifications for roads may be seen and examined at the County Clerk's office.

Bids must be for work to be done in accordance with the plans and specifications approved by the Fiscal Court and Commissioner of Public Roads.

The Fiscal Court of Lincoln county expressly reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Before contracts are binding on first parties, they must receive the approval of the Commissioner of Public Roads. Each bid shall be accompanied by cash or a certified check, payable at sight to order of the County Treasurer for 10 per cent of amount of proposal; which check shall be held until the execution of the contract.

In fact, Mrs. Duke's recovery was so rapid she was afraid that it could be only temporary. So she waited from September, when she took the remedy, until the following February to pass judgment. Then she wrote:

"I write you in regard to your wonderful stomach remedy that I took last September. I feel better than I have in five years."

"My weight was 127½ pounds; now it is 147½, and I can eat anything I want. I sleep well at night. I would have written before, but I wanted to see how I got along."

May's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your drug now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be returned.

All work to be done under the supervision of the Commissioner of Public Roads.

By order of Fiscal Court of Lincoln county.

County Road Engineer.

Here's A 'Tip' On Rheumatism
Follow It

AN ACCURATE DESCRIPTION

When your arm or your leg feels "all knotted" with rheumatism, when you feel as though your muscles were "tied up with a rope," you are really describing your pains accurately. Rheumatism is a condition of the body when acids and other deposits of impurities are actually "tied up" the strands of muscles in your body, or strangling the nerves and thus producing the awful shooting pains of sciatica, lumbago, etc. Medical authorities agree that these acid deposits are carried and deposited by the blood in the various parts of the body. It stands to reason, therefore, that local applications such as rubbing with so-called remedies can't do any permanent good. At best they can relieve the pain a little and only for a little while. The only way to effect a real cure is to attack the real cause—the blood. It is cleansed from the troublesome deposits by S. S. S., the reliable blood purifier that is now easing the pains and healing the ills of the third generation. S. S. S. "goes after" the impurities in the blood as relentlessly, as eagerly and as thoroughly as a ferret goes after rats; pursuing the poison into every vein and artery, into every nook and corner of the body, and chasing the troublesome substances out of the body through the kidneys. S. S. S. is not a drug. It is a purely vegetable blood purifier. You can get S. S. S. at every drug store. But if in addition you should like to have the advice of the doctors in charge of our laboratory, do not hesitate to write us. You will receive free, conscientious and confidential advice. This is in line with our policy to make every effort to insure the best results from S. S. S. to every sufferer. Get a bottle at your druggist's today. If you wish special advice, write to Medical Department, Room 45, Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Georgia.

BROWER'S GREAT Golden Anniversary Sale

Is now in full swing. An event of great importance to all home furnishers in Central Kentucky

A PERSONAL MESSAGE FROM OUR VICE-PRESIDENT

A year ago I determined to make this, the Fiftieth Anniversary of my father's active association with the Furniture and Carpet Business, the greatest value giving event this store has ever attempted and I laid my plans accordingly. Months ago, when the markets for 1916 goods first opened, our buyers went into the great factory and the wholesale centers and made their purchases for this sale. Almost without exception since that time the prices have advanced—these advances in some cases being as great as 30 per cent. But our contracts were all made before these advances and the merchandise is now ready for your inspection at prices that are based on the actual cost of the goods to us at time of purchase plus a very much smaller margin of profit than we regularly add. When I started with the intention of making this sale the greatest value-giving event ever attempted by this store I had no fore knowledge that market conditions later on would, as it were, conspire to help me but such is now the case. I firmly believe that it will be impossible for prospective home furnishers to again buy reputable merchandise at as low prices as we are now offering until long after the close of the great European War.—Harry S. Brower, Vice-Pres. and Mgr., C. F. Brower & Co.

"Cascarets" Best If Headachy, Bilious, Sick, Constipated

Best for Liver and Bowels, Bad Breath, Bad Colds, Sour Stomach.

Get a 10-cent box. Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, head and nose clogged up with a cold—always trace this to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet, breath right, complexion rosy and your liver and bowels regular for months.

W. O. Walker, of this city, sold several horses to farmers of the Highland section the past week. To Craig Young he sold a four-year-old black gelding for $100; to John Will Carrier a four-year-old bay gelding for $100; to Oscar Fletcher a two-year-old horse for $100. To Jim Young he sold a Jersey cow for $45.

What
Ira T. Moser of Milledgeville has to say about cream separators
this week.

When you use a De Laval Separator you not only get more cream, but better cream as well

THE best evidence of this is that during the last twenty-five years butter made from De Laval separated cream has invariably scored the highest at all important contests and state fairs.

Practically all the cream entered in the International Milk and Cream Show held in connection with the Panama-Pacific Exposition was separated by De Laval, and every first prize, and most all the other prizes, were won by De Laval separated cream.

These facts are simply further proof of De Laval supremacy in everything that goes to make a good cream separator.

Don't buy any separator until you give us an opportunity to let you see and try a De Laval. We will be glad to send one out to your farm on trial any time you say. Just phone, send a post card, or call and we will be glad to give you all the information you wish.

Sooner or later you will buy a DE LAVAL

Notice to Contractors

Bids will be received at the County Clerk's office at Stanford, Ky., until twelve o'clock noon Friday, March 10th, 1916 for the metal for the various pikes described below. Bids must be sealed and plainly marked "TURNPIKE BID". Contracts will be let to the lowest responsible bidder, who shall furnish satisfactory security in amount of the contract. The Court reserves the right to reject any or all bids. Contractor shall state if stone is to be machine or hand broken. Stone must be of good quality, and of size that will pass thru a two-inch ring. Gravel must be coarse, hard and flinty, free from soil or trash. The one to whom the contract is awarded shall within ten days make bond for faithful performance of work in amount equal to amount of contract. Bond to be approved by County Judge. All work must be completed on or before October 15th, 1916. Contractors shall begin work when notified, and continue until completed. Working one day on the road when there is nothing to do elsewhere then off for a week will not be tolerated. All metal will be measured by Engineer, either in the heap or on the road. Let it be distinctly understood now that a County Engineer is expected to know how to measure stone and gravel, and he alone will attend to that part of the work. If a contractor is not satisfied with the measure, there is only one recourse, remeasure. No one may measure, only an experienced Engineer. Also, you may expect to forfeit your bond if the work is delayed until after October fifteenth. I propose to prosecute any one neglecting to have his contract in time.
